

BizOps Virtual Roundtable Series: What's Next? Shaping Successful Career Pathing and Succession Planning

05.09.24 | 1:00 PM EST

Effective workforce development is vital to the present and future success of any destination. Join us for the next BizOps virtual roundtable session, which will feature a panel of three organizational development experts from the Fired Up! Culture team, to learn how destinations can successfully navigate career pathing and succession planning to lead their workforces forward. You will discover why these strategies are vital and go beyond simple title changes and promotions, plus take away practical tips on how to get started on developing and implementing these strategies to get the most out of your career pathing and succession planning initiatives. Bring your questions and workforce challenges to this session and prepare for the future today!
